

The Enemy is stagnate cities and sprawl

To autonomy for all

A mobile populous

start with model of mobile los angeles animate the model

make a trailer then film to show all build public will to start build perfect LA - sprawl eating robots convert single family blankets into fields and forests solar chimney power plants, food towers and desalination plants punctuate the periphery the outer reaches of the freewalk multi lane multi speed moving sidewalk at grade no cars just you walking move to the center to go faster get on anywhere

get off anywhere to your green terrace house with garden freewalk at 137' up balcony houses higher up with views freewalk at 269' high inner courtyard cathedrals of light through the canyon jungle fitness art space up to the roof garden acropolis with freewalk lane at 412' above ground soar above and beyond to other solar wrapped houses full of museums constant creation continuously creative society

We build it here in LA then we export it all over the globe

Fill the will of the people to mobilize de mobilize throw out their machines in favor of their bodies fast freewalks and food towers pursuit of progress is our job take care of what we have continually improve medicine, structure and infrastructure frequent discourse and face to face interactions song dance motion still speaking

we learn most from mimesis mimicry watching others most valuable to be around other smart people discourse, community mentorship and our smart suits replace schooling see this city from above its growth along axes hits the ocean then stretches north and south along the ocean dips in and out of sea and mountain covered with gardens forests and fitness jungles throughout how do we start? get there from here? what do we do now? take existing and graft interventions on top housing stacked on top of existing buildings along major boulevards streetcars connecting local fabric trains on freeways linked to california mag lev connect across region fast to the ideal city that consumes zero energy from outside to survival city - self sufficient water, energy and food there is a buzz when we share space

we learn most from mimesis we learn most from interacting face to face the enemy is disconnected denizens car based lifestyles stuck inside staring at screens there is no autonomy in autopia only excess isolation and connection choked children machines rule space here purpose of streets is to move people not objects to life without objects information cloud stores your everything the device does not matter device is dime a dozen your data is stored out there up there in the cloud redundancy your data in clouds upon clouds accessed by any machine objects don't matter what matters are people you and me

the enemy are objects the enemy is any object that is more important than any human life without objects is the ideal to no objects to no building
to no clothes just ecology and US mobility the multi lane multi speed moving walk just move to the center to move faster california maglev for now decades from now and smart suits for later just put it on it makes you stronger moves you around at high speeds with enough research and development we will only need smart suits no infrastructure fashion will trump shelter and systems smart suit cleans its self, keeps you warm and cool one suit is all you need go humans go we continue to perfect technology civilization and culture and maintain what we have every day better food better space better art better speaking constant pursuit of perfection of civilization and culture is our job everyone's job day in and day out perfect healthcare, education, music, art , collaboration better buildings better nature to the pursuit of nothing the invisible interface the enemy is object to nothing between us and each other to an infinitely creative society regular discourse regular renewal of murals, tapestries and screen spaces spoken word rapped, rehashed and recorded infinite museums for all accessible anywhere

the enemy is ignorance and disconnectedness the enemy is car based lifestyle toward movement of the people without objects toward an ecology of mountain houses, solar power plants and fitness jungles to nothing to everything

the enemy is complaint with no action to perfection of civilization and culture.